WILDCAT '67

J. F. Webb High School

Oxford, North Carolina

Volume IV

Foreword

Life in J.F. Webb High is at times complicated and mysterious; however, with each passing moment, a new knowledge is revealed to some student, and an entirely new world begins its birth. There are times that many of us feel in a sense like "Spies," because there are so many things that we do not understand. It then becomes necessary for us to move discretely about in search for an answer to our questions. Unless we do inquire from teacher to teacher to gain this intelligence, we will falter in chaos as do captured spies. Let us strive onward and thus undo complications and solve the mysteries that so easily torment our minds.

Having worked so closely with our patient advisor, Mrs. Kay Slaughter and the elected officers and staff members, I am fully aware of the fact that they hope the "Wildcat '67" will be one that you will be proud to possess. I extend to them my deepest and most humble gratitude for a job well done.

At this point I proudly release to the waiting hands of students and faculty of J.F. Webb High School, your "WILDCAT '67."

Dedication

To one who has guided and directed students as a sincere friend, respected teacher, and loyal counselor since the beginning of J.F. Webb High School, we dedicate this annual. It is because of her devotion to her profession that students reach future success. She is one whose tireless energy and enthusiasm inspires the same qualities in her students. Besides the many hours of enriching the minds of students in the classroom, she works diligently on the Junior-Senior Prom to make it unforgettable for everyone. Because of the time and effort given, she will be forever cherished in student memories which she colors so vividly.

In deep appreciation for her valuable services, the Wildcat Staff dedicates the nineteen hundred and sixty-seven Wildcat to MISS LORENA AVERETT.

Mascot

Having long, blond hair, sparkling blue eyes, and a winning smile, the senior mascot for this year is Haven Godwin. She is the five-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Godwin and the sister of Philip, a member of the senior class.

Haven has many loves including playing monopoly with her mother, swimming, sewing, and playing in her new doll house. She is also an active member of her Sunday School and Sunbeams at the Oxford Baptist Church where her father is Pastor.

The seniors are very proud of their little mascot and would like to wish Haven a most happy and successful future.
